Bethany's Own Bleacher Bums

Spirit at BHS was enhanced by the popular Bleacher Bums, who "ruled" over sports fans. Members of this unorganized organization are L. to R.: Matt Bennett, David Boyer, Shawn Davis, Matt Green, Dave Kirkwood, Jon Harris, Mike Atkinson, Dan Harshman, Mike Sweeney, and Kurtis Bunfill. See you next year, guys?

This year at B.H.S. we found that we were surrounded with talent. Along with talent comes pride, and we're simply overflowing with it. How do you think we made it this far? Without pride, school days would be nothing, only routine. So now you know what makes the bells ring, books open, and the Mustangs run.

I will always remember you,
You helped me in many ways.
You were there to comfort me
On my sad and lonely days.

I will always remember you
In all that I do,
For all the good times we've had
And all that we've been through.

I will always remember you
I'm sure by now you can see,
But I ask one question,
Will you remember me?

TRIP TO LAKE GENEVA

After the long trip up to Lake Geneva everyone was ready to hit the slopes for their first-time-ever ski lessons. Towards the end of the day, Mark Davis had a slight inconvenience as he was rushed to the hospital for overdressing his feet. During the evenings, we all tested our intelligence by playing Trivial Pursuit. Instead of sleeping, like we should have, we stayed up all night and watched Hot Dog USA and The Breakfast Club.

Hi!

Our sponsors this year were Mrs. Duncan and Mr. Reinhart. We sold jewelry as our fundraiser and made lots of money. We also took a trip to Chicago to see the museums; very educational and a lot of fun! Thank you Mrs. Gibbons. Our first year of high school was a BLAST, and the seniors weren't as mean as we expected. We're looking forward to the next 3 years, and we're going to make the best of them!
Yours truly,

English

The high school English department saw some changes this year. Mrs. Sandy Bland, who started here in the fall, left us at mid year to pursue more schooling. Her replacement was a nice surprise, Mr. Mark Hansen. Even though he was fresh out of college, he proved to have enough expertise in the classroom to take over the high school classes with ease. Yes, the kids still complained about how hard English was.

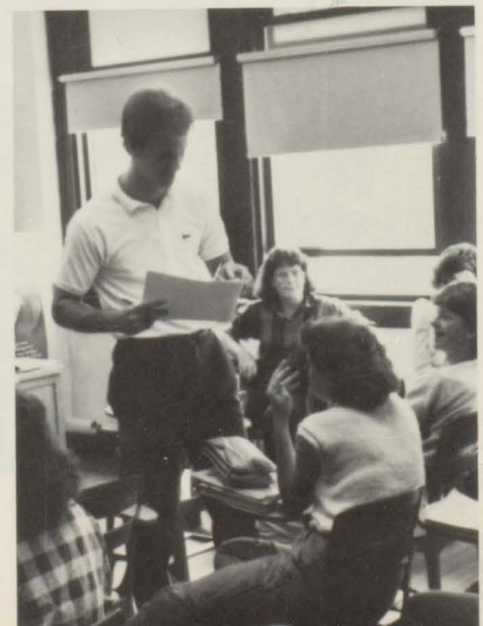

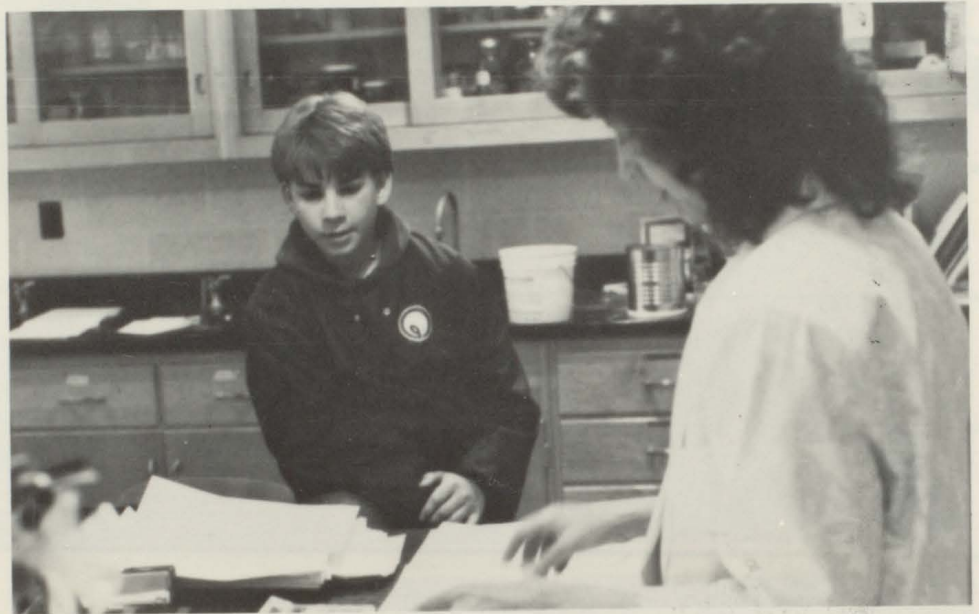

Pictured at top center is the eighth grade language arts teacher, Mrs. Arlone Gibbons, and at top right is the seventh Grade literature and eighth grade language arts teacher, Miss Janet Ryan. Also teaching junior high literature and language arts is Mrs. Susan Blackford (not pictured).

P.E., Health, and Driver's Ed.

This is a very skillful page. What I mean is that P.E., Driver's Education, and Health develop many skills which are needed throughout life. Driver's Ed. is important because without it we would have to wait until we were eighteen to cruise. Health is important to learn about the body and its functions. P.E. is important to learn about sports and sportsmanship. So, don't pass up this page without looking at it thoroughly! Pictured at the top right is Mrs. Joann Foster, Girls' P.E.; at center right is Mr. Randy Inman, Boys' P.E.; at bottom right is Mr. Gene Patient, Health and Driver's Education.

Those Who Keep Our PRIDE Well Fed

Without the cooks and their little elves, we'd be about ten pounds lighter. Connie, Emma Lou, Terri, Jason, Chad and Tony all do their part to keep things up and running. Although they are frequently experiencing cutbacks, they still continue to serve us with pride. We have a special tribute for these people.

The lunch bell rings,
The hallways sing.
The kids are hungry things.

So don't be late, or your plate
Of food will soon be cold.
But if you ask, I'm sure the cooks
Will put your food on hold.

So the next time you see a cook having a bad day, try to cheer her up. Otherwise you will be failing to accomplish your duty as a human being. (Okay, so I Exaggerated!) Keep up the good work cleaners, washers, cooks and sloshers!

Those Who Keep Our PRIDE In Repair

The drivers and custodians at Bethany High School are truly the most prepared for any unexpected circumstances which pop up. Tools break, buses break, and new messes are created daily. Through thick and thin, they're always in, they take us to and from. If halls were left uncleaned at night, our school would smell like scum. They fix doors and wax the floors, they pick us up at home. We get to school with lots of time to use our black Ace combs.

Please respect our drivers and custodians. They're our friends. Drivers not pictured: Connie Snoke, Loretta McCain, Shirley Ford, and Shirley Osbourne.

Winding Down The Year

As you have read through this yearbook, you may have noticed some changes. These changes are to improve our yearbook. I'll explain a little bit about a yearbook so you'll understand some of the changes we've made.

First a yearbook begins with a theme to put everything together with one central idea. This year's theme is "Our Pride Is Showing." The theme, as it turns out, fit the year well with a winning football team, a successful show choir, a new junior high National Honor Society, and many other exciting events we've captured in these pages of the book.

Next, we take pictures, pictures, and more pictures, trying to include everyone possible. Then, in an organized manner, we arrange these pictures and their captions throughout the book. It takes creativity, skill, and a lot of hard work to complete the book.

The authors of this book, the Yearbook Staff, are the people who went through all of the hard work to put together this yearbook for you. I'd like to thank those hard workers and wish them luck next year. I'd also like to thank the adviser, Miss Ryan, who does most of the hard work herself, because without a hard-working adviser, there would be no yearbook. And I'd like to thank YOU for giving us a reason to have a yearbook. I hope you enjoy the 1986 Reverie.

Your Editor,

Stacy Harmon
